

Too, as well, and also have similar meanings, are adverbs and mean 'in addition', but they are used in different positions in a sentence.

Also is normally used before the verb. BUT it goes AFTER verb TO BE.

- My brother not only goes to school; he also works part time for a company.
- He is smart, and he is also a diligent employee.

As well and Too are usually used at the end

- My brother not only goes to school; he works part time for a company as well.
- He is smart, and he is a diligent employee as well.
- My brother not only goes to school; he works part time for a company too.
- He is smart, and he is a diligent employee too.

As well and Too can be used in short answers or imperatives

Helen: I'll have steak please.

Waiter: Fine

Helen: And I'll have the mixed vegetables as well.

Tom: I met him yesterday.

Pat : I did too.

In informal speech, we can also use "me too".

- I am watching TV.
- Me too.

Now do the activities.

1. Complete the sentences with too, also or *as well

1. She not only sings; she _____ plays the piano.
2. She not only sings; she plays the piano _____
3. Bring summer clothing and _____ bring something warm to wear in the evenings.
4. He goes to London, and his sister goes _____
5. He has _____ travelled to Australia.
6. He likes watching films; he _____ enjoys reading.
7. He plays several instruments and is _____ a music teacher.
8. I really love this song, and I liked the first one _____
9. I can speak French _____.
10. My mother can knit pullovers and she _____ cooks well.